Then the effort is made to prove that he actually lost money on his real estate loans. The records prove that the balance in his favor, between the sums he bid at Sheriff's sale and the assessed value, is nearly $200,000, aside from the fact that many of the notes on which he foreclosed were purchased by him individually at from 30 to 50 cents on the $1. What then does he propose to show? That he is really a lenient landford? And as this is his last resort a few remarks accompanied by additional statistics regarding his business are rendered necessary.

Three years ago he disposed of his interest in the First National Bank of this city for

THE Great Eng.

The who is well known to every citizen of this city, and who is a valued contributor to the Journal, was evicted from 311 East Court street.

Mrs. Ellen English, the widow of Wm. H. English, a namesake of the Poor Man's Friend, was ejected summarily from No. 50 Circle Hall, directly adjoining the barred window, on the 15th of October last, and this was done without the intervention of who are now working, one at Elevator A, and the others at the stock-yards, who were also drivers for William H. He compelled them to rent rooms in his block, at the corner of Noble and Washington streets, taking from their wages $1.25 per week each, and they were never in their rooms.

was a driver and was compelled to rent a house from English, first at No. 5 Dillon street, then at the corner of Noble and Washington, and then rooms at Circle Hall.
His brother, Lee Moore, is now a driver on the Illinois Street Line, and was forced by English, in order to get steady work, to rent a room in Circle Hall at $1.25 per week, and he never saw it. The amount was taken from his wages every Monday, and he was working seventeen hours out of every twenty-four for $1.65 per day.

These statements could be furnished from now until the crack of doom, but it isn't necessary. The American people understand why Wm. H. English was nominated, and they need no more facts to realize before the campaign is much older, how he gathered in his barrel. JOHN MOORE, NOW A BRAKEMAN ON THE O. AND M. ROAD,

A Business Offer for Haucock Men The following is clipped from the Rochester Evening Express:
To the Editor of the Evening Express:

How the Vice Presidential Bar'l was Filled.—A Vulgar Fraction of the Ejectment Suits,

By William H. English, to Seoure Payment in Advance.—Real Estate Agency in a Street Railroad Ring.

How the Dollars Were Gathered That Filled the Bar'l That Nominated the Tail Piece of the Democratic Party.

Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial:

Indiana, Northe Speciment 10, 1880.—The remark was once made by Horace P. Biddle, now Judge of the Supreme Court of Indiana, that "there are days and days." He was correct. There are also weeks and weeks, and before I reach the true inwardness of the final transactions of the Democratic nominee for Vice-Presides and months are liable to elapse. November will be here all too soon, this being one of the peculiar cases where the longer you live the more you will find out. Neither subserviency to the slave power when Mr. English attempted to achieve greatness as a statesman, nor his subsequent political flounderings as a supporter of Grant and Morton, would have availed had the barrel been empty.

How he Filled the Bar'l That the Editor of the Such cheester, I will sell a from $1,000 to $1,500 worth of property, real and personal, in the city of Rochester, to be paid for as follows: I will sell the real estate and give a deed of the same at once, or a bill of sale of preparation, the amount of said valuation to be deposited in any bank in the city of Rochester, to be paid for as follows: I will sell a horse, the deposited in any bank in the city of Rochester and I will give a check for an equal amount, together with a deed paysable to the holder when Hancock is elected. I lose both sale and property. I will sell a horse, carriage and harness at its fair valuation, on the result of the State of New York, on the terms above mentioned. And further, I will bet $10 that no Democrat continued for Vice-President and property. I will sell a horse, carriage and property. I will sell a h st he law."

"A bill so radical in its character, so dangerous to our business prosperity, would work infinite mischief at this time, when the country is just recovering itself y from a long period of depression and getting again on solid ground, just coming, up out of the wild sea of panic and distress which has tossed us so long."

"Let it be remembered that 22 per cent. of all the laboring people of this country are artisans engaged in manufactures. Their culture has been fostered by our tariff laws. It is their pursuits and the skill which they have developed that produced the glory of our Centennial Exhibition. To them the country owes the splender of the position it holds before the world more than any other equal number of our citizens. If this bill becomes a law, it strikes down their occupation and throws into the keenest distress the brightest and best elements of our population."

Words from Woodland Woodland, Marshall Co., W. Va., September 14th, 1880.

We, the Republican citizens of this place, beg space in your columns to announce that there was a meeting held at this place on the 11th inst., at which there was a Garfield and Arthur club organized. We anticipate an interesting time, and will anticipate an interesting that, and endeavor to get every shoulder to the wheel that the car may move steadily forward in the good cause. We expect an increase in the Republican vote here this ward in the good cause. We expect an increase in the Republican vote here this fall. We intend raising a pole here on the 25th of this month, and cordially invite all Republicans to join in with us on the occasion. We will give you further particulars at some other time.
Yours respectfully,
J. W. Harbison,
Assistant Secretary.

R. S. Austin, Sprinfield, Mass, writes:
"For thirty years have been troubled with costiveness, piles and pain about the kidneys. I became so weak that I could hardly walk. In this condition I cent for a box of Tutt's Pills, and took one at bed time. Can now lay on either side; no piles; have good appetite, and gaining strength every day. They have brought me out all right. Save Your Hair." Keep it Beautiful.

The "London Hair Color Restorer" is the most delightful article over introduced to the American people, and is totally different from all other Hair Restorers, being entirely free from all impure ingredients that render many other articles for the hair abnoxious. Where baldness, or falling of the hair exists, or prematurely grayness, from sickness, or other causes, its use will restore the natural youthful color, and cause a healthy growth, cleansing the sclap from all impurities, dandruff, &c., at the same time a most pleasing and lasting hair dressing, fragrantly perfumed, rendering the hair soft and pliable, making it an indispensable article in every tollet.

MICHAEL HOGARTY, "THE STONE CUTTER,"

These poor; cople were not rendered homeless because they owed Wm. H. English, but because there was a chance they might become indebted to him, and he did not propose that any man should owe him a dollar. This was done "merely as a matter of convenience,"—a precaution.

Another method adopied by the Poor Man's Friend to aid in building up the necessary barrel is as follows: He was President and principal owner of the Citizens' Street Railway of Indianapolis. It was a close corporation, and no man could get work who did not rent a house or at least a room from Wm. H. English. It matters nothing as to whether the man was married or single, his name could never be placed upon the pay rool of the Street Car Company null it was registered upon the roll of Wm. H. English. All his employes were thereby made his rental agents. Some of these unfortunates have been seen—the first one being A. H. Fitty, who was formerly in charge of the harness department at the car stables. He found increasary as to rent a house from Fnglish at the corner of Dillon and Deloss streets, in order to get a job. The rent was taken from his wages each week in advance. Mr. Fitty now has a harness shop at 246 West. Washington street, and says that it was the invariable rule that all employes should rent from Mr. English, and that the rent, whether the property was occupied or not, was taken from their wages every Monday.

INDIAMAPOLIS, September 10, 1880.—The remark was once made by Horace P. Biddle, now Judge of the Supreme Court of Indiana, that "there are days and days." He was correct. There are also weeks and weeks, and before I reach the true inwardness of the final transactions of the Democratic nominee for Vice-President months and months are liable to elapse. November will be here all too soon, this being one of the peculiar cases where the longer you live the more you will find out. It is known the tale of the kite was selected because it had a barrel attachment. Neither subserviency to the slave power when Mr. English attempted to achieve greatness as a statesman, nor his subsequent political flounderings as a supporter of Grant and Morton, would have availed had the barrel been empty.

Is then a mater in which the untrammeled voter has an interest.

The Commercial has published the official records, certified to by the Clerk and Assessor of Marion county, his home. The only announcement yet made is that like the other reaper he gathered them in "merely as a matter of convenience." He was a good landlord and never evicted any of his tenants, though occasionally a wicked a gent caused him trouble by his harshness.

The alleged defense of the Poor Man's Friend has not been elaborated in a very artistic manner. In the first place, a blundering statement is given out that he did not deal in tax titles, and yet the records show that he
